

Discord Community Guidelines

This page will set out the expectations for the WMI Discord server: how members are expected to treat each other there, what belongs in which channel, and how moderation works. Discord is WMI's primary place for help, updates and connecting with other members, and the same culture applies there as in the shop: be kind, assume good intent, and remember everyone is learning. For how to join and which channels to use, see Getting Around in the New Member Guide.

This page is being written. The original wiki page was lost and has not been rewritten yet. Questions in the meantime go to a board member.
